

Dr Joanna Kasznia-Brown PhD MBBS FRCR MRCS

Consultant Radiologist
International Committee
Royal College of Radiologists, UK

Dr Kasznia-Brown is a Consultant Radiologist, with subspecialty in the cross sectional imaging, including CT and MRI. Her work include imaging in oncology and wide range of abdominal/pelvic examinations, as well as ultrasound and functional MRI for both adults and children.

Passionate about paediatric radiology, she is a member of the Executive Committee of British Society of Paediatric Radiology and Chair of the Paediatric MRI Committee.

Joanna is co-founder and lead Radiologist in the International Committee, Royal College of Radiologists, London and has been actively involved in radiology projects in Africa, Asia and Europe, as an International Radiology Expert and Advisor.

She is an international consultant for the International Atomic Energy Agency (Vienna) and World Health Organisation (Geneva).

She is currently working on the pilot project of adopting and adapting clinical imaging guidelines in Arica and recommendations in female health imaging.

The involvement in overseas projects has given her opportunities to cooperate and work alongside well-established, International medical organisations such as MSF and Partners-in-Health.

Dr Kasznia-Brown is a member of South West Clinical Senate Council and works as Senior Radiology Advisor in South West England.
